AGENCY DESCRIPTION

As the state's chief executive, the Governor represents the people of Wisconsin and is responsible for safeguarding the public interest. The Governor gives policy direction to the state and plays an important role in the legislative process. Through the biennial budget, developed and administered in conjunction with the Department of Administration and various agency heads, the Governor ultimately reviews and directs the activities of all administrative agencies. Major policy changes are highlighted in the Governor's annual State of the State message and other special messages to the Legislature. The chief executive may call a special legislative session to deal with specific legislation, may veto an entire bill or may veto parts of appropriation bills. Although various administrators direct the day-to-day operations of state agencies, the Governor is considered the head of the executive branch. Most individuals, commissions or part-time boards that head the major administrative departments are appointed by, and serve at the pleasure of, the Governor.

As the state's chief administrative officer, the Governor must approve federal aid expenditures; state land purchases; highway and airport construction; land or building leases for state use; and numerous state contracts, including compacts negotiated with tribal gaming authorities. The Governor may request the Attorney General protect the public interest in various legal actions. The statutes authorize the Governor to create special advisory committees or task forces to conduct studies and make recommendations. The Governor also appoints over 1,000 persons to various councils and boards, which are created by law to advise and serve state government, and personally serves on selected bodies such as the State of Wisconsin Building Commission.

The Governor serves as commander in chief of the Wisconsin National Guard when it is called into state service during emergencies, such as natural disasters and civil disturbances.
